

Clone - 1E11

(No. M7-148)

Principal investigator

Fortune Kohen

Faculty of Biology

Department of Biological Regulation

Summary

Monoclonal antibodies for peptide and steroid hormones Due to their high specificity and sensitivity these antibodies may be applicable for research, diagnosis and therapeutics. A particular use may be quality control of industrial manufacturing of food products.

Peptide Hormones: Å 147-148 - Monoclonal antibody to hCG Description: Monoclonal antibodies raised against bhCG. Available clones: 1D5 (IgG1), 1E11 (IgG2b). Human chorionic gonadotropin (hCG) is a hormone [1] produced by the syncytiotrophoblast, a component of the fertilized egg, after conception [2].
